Using O*Net
Do you work with students who have post-school goals that don't match his or her current skill set?
Do you have students who may not understand the expectations and demands of their career goals?
Do you need a resource to help students explore and conduct research on potential careers?

Click on O*Net OnLine online.onetcenter.org/, a tool for career exploration and job analysis. O*Net OnLine has detailed descriptions of the world of work. Students can learn the level of preparation required, explore different job families, and the tasks, knowledge, skills, abilities, and education required. There is also a "What's New" section that helps students see in-demand and cutting edge careers!
