Indiana Statewide Transition Forum

INDIANA SECONDARY TRANSITION RESOURCE CENTER
CENTER ON COMMUNITY LIVING AND CAREERS
INDIANA INSTITUTE ON DISABILITY AND COMMUNITY
INDIANA UNIVERSITY
(812) 855-6508
Greetings!

We hope to see you at the Statewide Transition Forum where opportunities will be available for you to participate, share information, sharpen your skills and re-ignite your commitment to the task of advancing transition outcomes in your own communities and statewide. This forum will provide multiple venues for you to gain new knowledge based on research and practical experience. You will have the opportunity to enjoy quality national and state speakers, productive dialogues, and formal and informal networking.

Session Descriptions. Sessions are offered as a result of the work of the Statewide Transition Advisory Group through the Indiana Secondary Transition Resource Center funded by the Indiana Department of Education. Icons next to the session description denote content supported by evidence-based and best practices. All sessions were planned according to the framework of the Taxonomy for Transition Programming (NSTTAC, 2008) and their relationship with the 5 transition performance indicators required by IDEA 2004.

Special Networking Opportunities -

Brown Bag Lunch. During this time participants can network with each other or spend some time with our national and state speakers to learn more and/or get specific questions answered. Also during the Brown Bag Lunchtime there will be an opportunity for school personnel to begin establishing regional networks to build statewide capacity and improve transition outcomes.

Table Talks. Throughout the day there will be a schedule to provide opportunities for individuals to dialogue with presenters and other stakeholders to further understand the content presented, ask specific or individual questions, and learn more about resources available. Table Talks will also be available during the Brown Bag Lunch.

Academy Awards Reception. Wednesday, August 3, 2011, 4:30-6:00 p.m.

We’ll see you on the red carpet!

Indiana Secondary Transition Resource Center
Cadre of Transition Leaders

Organizational Meeting

The Indiana Secondary Transition Resource Center is creating a Cadre of Transition Leaders to better support local districts to improve transition outcomes. The Resource Center has requested that special education directors nominate 1-3 individuals (depending on the size of the district) to represent their district or special education cooperative to be part of the Cadre of Transition Leaders. The representative(s) can be special education directors, supervisors, high school department chairs and/or transition personnel.

The Cadre will be organized based on Indiana’s 7 special education roundtables. If you would like to participate as a member of the Cadre, please speak to your special education director about your participation and roundtable number.

Purpose: To develop transition leaders in districts to improve transition outcomes (Indicators 1 -graduation rates, 2 -decrease dropout rates, 8 -family involvement, 13 -Transition IEP, and 14-postschool outcomes);
To ensure resources and information are distributed at the teacher-level; and
To network with others in your regional special education roundtable area, to problem-solve, share resources and information.

When: The initial organizational meeting will occur at the Transition Forum during the Brown Bag lunch on Wednesday, August 3. Additional meetings will be based on individual roundtable decisions.

How: After the Transition Forum, meeting format and Cadre needs will be decided by roundtable members. Members should meet at least quarterly and meetings may be web-based, phone conferences or face-to-face.

If you are designated by your special education director as a member of the Cadre of Transition Leaders, please indicate your participation on the registration form.

In addition to Cadre Leaders, we encourage districts to send many more staff to the Transition Forum to learn, share and network.

For additional information, please contact Teresa Grossi at (812) 855-4070 or tgrossi@indiana.edu
Act I: From Exacerbation to Exhilaration

We know that the conscious mind is only responsible for a small segment of attitudes and behaviors. Trying to use positive thinking to convince yourself is like asking a small child riding an elephant to turn the beast in another direction. Instead of talking you into being motivated, this experiential program gives enough information to satisfy your brain so you can let your heart and the wisdom of your body take over.

About Billy Strean

Billy Strean is an expert on experiential learning and applying laughter, humor, and playful movement to help people to be more engaged and have more fun, while producing extraordinary results in their work and play.

Billy recently received the University of Alberta’s prestigious Rutherford Award for Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching. He has been teaching, coaching, and leading workshops for over 25 years. With a background as a teacher and NCAA athlete and coach, he went on for a doctorate in sport and exercise psychology at the University of Illinois. After being in school for way too long, Billy had pigeon-holed himself into a significant, but giggle-resistant life as an academic. With several years of specialized training he is now able to pump irony.

Billy’s speaking and workshops inspire participants to have greater joy, fun, play, and satisfaction in their lives. Dr. Strean’s high energy and engaging presentations are supported by a depth of education and experience working with and learning from some of the world’s top achievers in sport, business, education, performing arts, and medicine.

KEYNOTE PRESENTERS

Linea Johnson & Cinda Johnson

Act II: A Personal Journey

Don’t miss this enlightening personal story from Linea and Cinda about their journey through the struggle of bipolar disorder from the perspective of a child and parent. It is the inside story of Linea’s struggle through the diagnosis, treatment and acceptance of bipolar disorder and Cinda and her families’ pain, love and pride for their daughter in this fierce fight. They have a shared purpose of building hope and lessening the stigma for those struggling with mental health conditions.

Linea Johnson

About Linea Johnson

Linea Johnson recently completed a B.A. in English and Creative Writing. Her first book, Perfect Chaos (St. Martin's Press, 2012), is a memoir about her diagnosis and treatment of bipolar disorder. Linea has published articles in journals including The Clearing House, Fragments and Mobility International USA. She writes and works with BringChange2Mind and with Dr. Delaney Ruston, M.D. and filmmaker (Unlisted and Where in the World is Mental Health). Linea has a deep commitment to promoting positive mental health and decreasing the stigma that mental illness carries. In addition to her writing, Linea travels the country presenting at national and international mental health, educational and disability conferences. Her website is http://www.lineacinda.com. Information can also be found on the Linea and Cinda Facebook page. http://www.facebook.com/lineacinda?ref=ts

Cinda Johnson, Ed.D.

About Cinda Johnson

Cinda Johnson, Ed.D., is a professor and special education program director at Seattle University. Cinda teaches, writes and conducts research on the transition of students with disabilities, including those with mental illness, to life after high school, sharing her work nationally as well as in Washington. She teaches future special education teachers, school psychologists, school counselors and other graduate students in her courses including her classes on emotional and behavioral disorders. Dr. Johnson is the director of the Center for Change in Transition Services, a grant funded by the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. Her book, Perfect Chaos, written with her daughter, Linea, will be published by St. Martin's Press in 2012. Perfect Chaos is a memoir of Linea's diagnosis and treatment of bipolar disorder and provides an inside look at this illness and the effect on both Linea, Cinda and their family. Information can be found on her website, http://www.lineacinda.com, and on the Linea and Cinda Facebook page. http://www.facebook.com/lineacinda?ref=ts
FEATURED NATIONAL PRESENTERS

Dr. David W. Test, Professor of Special Education at the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, teaches courses in single subject research, transition, classroom management, and professional writing. The majority of Dr. Test’s publications have focused on self-determination, transition, community-based training, and supported employment. Along with Dr. Nellie Aspel and Dr. Jane Everson, he wrote the first transition methods textbook titled Transition Methods for Youth with Disabilities. Dr. Test currently serves as a Co-Principal Investigator (with Dr. Paula Kohler and Dr. Larry Kortering) of the National Secondary Transition Technical Assistance Center, Co-Director on the North Carolina Indicator 14, Postschool Outcomes Project (with Dr. Claudia Flowers), and the UNC Charlotte Doctoral Leadership Personnel Preparation Program (with Dr. Diane Browder). Finally, he and Dr. Bob Algozzine currently serve as co-editors of Career Development for Exceptional Individuals. He just does not seem to be able to do anything by himself.

Dawn A. Rowe, M. A. is a Research Associate at the University of Oregon. She is currently the project coordinator for the National Post-School Outcomes Center. Her duties include providing technical assistance to states and local education agencies on Indicator 14, product development and dissemination, event coordination, and overall project coordination activities. Prior to her work at the University of Oregon she was a graduate research assistant with the National Secondary Transition Technical Assistance Center (NSTTAC) where she reviewed literature to expand the evidence-base for secondary transition practices and predictors and developed training materials related to Indicator 13 for dissemination. Her current interests include parent and family involvement in Special Education, Interagency Collaboration, and transition from school to adult life for students with disabilities. Dawn Rowe’s publications have focused on transition assessment, transition skill instruction, and family involvement in transition planning.

Dr. Richard Luecking is President of TransCen, a position he has held since 1987 when he was charged by the Board of Directors as the organization’s first employee to create improved linkages between schools, service providing agencies, government, business, and families so that youth with disabilities experience improved post-school employment outcomes. During his tenure with the organization he has written, directed and/or overseen several dozen federal research and demonstration projects as well as a number of foundation-funded projects that address school to work transition and employment services for people with disabilities. He was an original consultant in the development of the Bridges from school to work program of the Marriott Foundation for People with Disabilities, which has since been replicated and established in several national locations with the help of TransCen.
FEATURED NATIONAL PRESENTERS

Dr. Loujeania Williams Bost is the Director of the National Dropout Prevention Center for Students With Disabilities (NDPC-SD). Dr. Bost holds a Ph.D. in Special Education from Pennsylvania State University.

She has an extensive background in working with students with disabilities. Loujeania was the chief of statewide compliance, monitoring, and technical assistance for the Pennsylvania Department of Education. She has been a public school teacher, a program administrator for agencies serving adults and adolescents with intellectual disabilities and a researcher.

Dr. Barbara Guy is the Transition and Work Experience Consultant for the Bureau of Children, Family, and Community Services in the Iowa Department of Education. Barb joined the Department of Education from the University of Minnesota where she was the Director of the National Transition Network. While at the University of Minnesota she also served as principal investigator of several research and technical assistance projects related to the secondary transition of youth with disabilities.

In addition to her most recent work, Barb’s broad perspectives of secondary transition derive from her work at the University of Kansas and her experiences teaching students with severe and profound disabilities. This background has lead to her recognition of the diverse secondary transition desires and needs of youth with disabilities and the belief that services and practices need to be flexible and broad enough to meet that diversity. She is the author of several articles and book chapters on secondary transition of youth with disabilities.
THE BIGGEST PRODUCTION OF ALL: THE STATUS OF NATIONAL AND STATE SECONDARY TRANSITION SERVICES

David Test, National Secondary Transition Technical Assistance Center (NSTTAC); Loujenia Bost National Dropout Prevention Center for Students with Disabilities; Richard Luecking, Center on Transition to Employment for Youth with Disabilities; Dawn Rowe, National Center on Postsecondary Outcomes for Students with Disabilities; Anne Davis, Indiana Department of Education; and Greg McAloon, Indiana Bureau of Rehabilitation Services

This panel discussion will provide a brief synopsis of what is happening in transition education and services across the country and in Indiana. Leaders of the National Transition Centers, the Indiana Department of Education and Bureau of Rehabilitation Services will share information about the current status of transition.

SPOTLIGHT ON FAMILIES AND TRANSITION: LEARNING FROM EACH OTHER

Sally Hamburg, IN*SOURCE and other advocacy groups.

Come hear a variety of family members talk about transition! This cracker barrel provides an opportunity to network, ask questions, share best practices as well as learn from families with vast transition experience. Information will be used to guide future Transition Resource Center activities.

A DOCUMENTARY OF REAL LIFE: USING DATA FROM COMMUNITY-BASED INSTRUCTION FOR TRANSITION ASSESSMENTS

Barbara Guy, Iowa Department of Education, Des Moines, IA

Similar to making a documentary, providing instruction in work and community settings while collecting the data and showing student progress is an art and a science. Attend this session to learn more about how to successfully carry out data-driven teaching and learning while incorporating the data into the student's summary of findings of transition assessments.

STAGE RIGHT OR LEFT? UNDERSTANDING HOW TO FACILITATE TRANSITION FOR STUDENTS WITH EMOTIONAL SUPPORT NEEDS

Dawn Rowe, National Center on Postsecondary Outcomes for Students with Disabilities, Eugene, OR
