Preparing for the Holidays: Making the Most of the Holidays

Contributed by Kristi A. Jordan, OTR/L

Cathy Pratt’s article, "Making the Most of the Holidays for Your Family and Your Son/ Daughter on the Autism Spectrum" has now been updated online at:
http://www.iidc.indiana.edu/index.php?pageId=570

You can also check out a recently published article on choosing toys for special needs called "Top Toy Tips" in Indy’s Child Magazine. In this article, I give some suggestions for sensory-sensitive children.

As you prepare to make the most of your Holiday activities, such as: school programs, parties, & the upcoming winter break, visual supports can be very helpful. These supports are available in the Visual Supports section on the IRCA website at:

- My School has a Holiday Program
- Winter Holiday Visuals
- Snow Day & 2 Hour Delay
- Holiday Party
- Winter Break

Happy Holidays!

Secretary share\articles\sensory\preparing for the holidays